

VERSION WITH MARKINGS TO SHOW CHANGES MADE

In The Claims

Please amend Claims 1 and 8 as follows:

Claim 1 (Twice Amended). A woven fabric label having a body member with a machine-readable code region formed thereon and comprising a ground weave which defines a background, said code region consisting of an array of spaced apart dots formed by yarns exposed at selected distinct and spaced apart locations on the surface of the said ground weave defining a plurality of straight line patterns, with said array of spaced apart dots collectively defining a machine-readable code.

Claim 8 (Twice Amended). A process for producing woven fabric labels having a machine-readable code woven therewithin, the process comprising weaving a ground weave fabric body member from weft and warp yarns, and at a predetermined region within the fabric body member selectively introducing dot forming yarns at distinct and spaced apart locations to create an array of dots on the surface of said ground weave to define a plurality of straight line patterns forming a machine-readable code.
